The District Manager and Department Heads carry out the day-to-day functions of the District as directed by the Board. The Board and Commission agendas can be found at www.marinwood.org. The Marinwood Review provides information on community meetings, events, programs, and other information of interest to the Community. Comments or suggestions regarding the publication should be directed to csd@marinwood.org.

Plight of the Botoxiphobe

Greetings, folks! 'Welcome in' to another Fall / Winter installment of the Marinwood Review, Marinwood CSD's longest running (and most widely circulated) in-print periodical. In the following pages you will find details about Marinwood's upcoming classes, programs, and events, as well as general information about our parks, open space trails, and swimming pool. I hope you find something that interests you. If not, there are many other ways to make use of our humble catalog. You could tear out the pages and make exactly 40 standard paper airplanes (including the cover). You could roll it up and pretend it's a pirate's spyglass. You could use it to shim an uneven table leg. In any event, it's surely a keeper.

A younger, less evolved version of me would have suggested you roll up our catalog and keep it as a "black-widow-spider-begone-wand." Indeed, I used to be irrationally afraid of these shiny, bulbous, hourglass-clad creatures, a full-on arachnophobe. But after 15 years working in Marinwood, where there's a black widow hiding under almost every garbage can, drinking fountain, irrigation box, and bulletin board, I have realized that these infamous spiders, dangerous though they are, are highly reclusive, uninterested in humans, and have never once bothered me or anyone I know. And so I leave them be.

Poison Oak

My time at Marinwood has similarly cured me of my fear of wasps and fear of skunks ("spheksophobia" and "mephitophobia", respectively). After countless encounters with these striped adversaries, I have come to learn that wasps usually leave you alone after a few assertive shooings, while skunks give plenty of warnings (and time to run) before they spray. And to this day I am spiderbite-free, spray-free, and have only been stung by a single yellowjacket. While I don't have an especially good rapport with any of these critters, it is a relief to walk the grounds no longer plagued by fear.

Unfortunately, one fear remains. A fear so unspeakable it has not yet been given an official name. But in attempts to face and conquer my fear, I have named it "botoxiphobia." And no, not a fear of Botox. My term is a portmanteau of "botanophobia," an irrational fear of plants, and "toxiphobia," an irrational fear of poison. "Botoxiphobia" is therefore a fear of poisonous plants, or more specifically, POISON OAK [insert dramatic gong sound].

Poison Oak is terrifying and it's everywhere: in the creek, covering the hills, growing up trees, deviously infiltrating non-poisonous foliage to trick us. Lightly brush past a single leaf of this subtle villain and you could wind up with an angry, itching, oozing rash that lasts for months. Fail to fully wash the poisonous oil off your clothes or hiking gear and you can unwittingly reinfect yourself months or even years later! Yes, this ubiquitous shrub is a menace of the first order and the mere sight of it makes me start to itch.

If you didn't already, now you know the plight of the "botoxiphobe." And whether you are similarly afflicted or simply want to be an ally, you can do your part. First, read through this catalog, sign up for any classes or programs you fancy, then roll it up into a handy spyglass and help keep a lookout for "leaves of 3." (That or use it to smash all the poison oak into oblivion. Either way.)

THREES TOGETHER

Ages 3-4

Our Threes Together class is a stimulating program that meets the developmental needs for three and four year olds. With small class sizes and a low student teacher ratio, we offer nurturing interactions, thoughtful and creative activities, and intentional support to our children as they begin their preschool experience. Each day, children will explore play materials that stimulate their imaginations, engage in art, play outside, and gather for circle time which includes puppetry, storytelling, and music.

Child must be 3 years old by September 1, 2024.
$150 Registration and Materials fee.

Instructor: Marinwood Staff

This final year of preschool prepares children for kindergarten with an enthusiastic and joyful outlook on learning.

Ages 8-14

This team is intended for girls and boys who would like to learn about this fast paced and fun water sport. The Marinwood Water Polo program is for those who have never played the sport and want to learn, or for players who have previously played and want to continue working on their skills. Instruction will include basic specialized swimming skills for water polo, passing, shooting, offense, defense, rules of the game, concepts of team play, and more as time permits. Players will get a chance to scrimmage in order to get a sense of how the overall game is played. This is a great launch point for being a confident and capable freshman high school player.

Space is limited, please contact Coach Chris Case to register at christophermcase@gmail.com or (415) 250-5443.

WATERCOLOR WORKSHOP

Ages Adults 15+

In this one-day workshop, you will spend the morning learning all about the fundamentals of painting with watercolor. Transparent watercolor is different from all other media and as such has some quite different aspects about how it is used. We'll cover the materials used with watercolor, the ways that we apply watercolor to (its very particular) paper, color theory and color mixing, what a classic palette of colors is. We'll discuss the importance of drawing (and drawing directly with the brush) as well as values and design/composition. We'll stop for a half hour lunch break (bring your lunch), during which we'll discuss the incredible history of watercolor painting in California. In the afternoon, we'll work together step by step to make a watercolor painting.

Each student should come to class with one sheet of Arches 140lb. Cold Press watercolor paper (approx. $10). Paints, palettes and brushes will be available.

Students will leave this workshop with a good grounding in how to work with this wonderful medium and a painting of their own!
